The Roger S. Boles Veterans Memorial Pool
Nov. 5, 1944. 7:15 a.m. Roger Boles leads a Navy fighter sweep of 12 Grumman F6F-5 Hellcat Fighters off the USS Lexington. The target? A Japanese airfield located just outside of New Lapa, Philippines.

"Lt. Boles, the squadron commander, was seen to be in trouble with his engine cocked at a 30-degree angle and one of his wings looking like an accordion," the aircraft action report read. "He climbed to nearly 1,000 feet and was about three miles from the field when he was seen to go into a 45-degree dive and then crash into the ground. Several pilots circled and saw his parachute 20 to 30 feet from the plane and open with no one in it. It looked as though it had been thrown from the plane as it crashed."

Reports were unable to confirm the cause of the crash. Roger was believed to have died on impact. The Santa Paula native was just 27.

The Purple Heart Trail is a highway network across the nation. The Purple Heart Memorial Highway covers the entire length of Ventura County on US Highway 101. The Purple Heart Trail was established in 1992 by the Congressionally-sanctioned Military Order of the Purple Heart to be a symbolic trail throughout all 50 states to commemorate and honor all men and women who have been wounded or given their lives in combat while serving in the U.S. armed forces. The Purple Heart Trail originates in Mount Vernon, Virginia, and traverses the United States to California. The 36-mile segment in Santa Barbara County just north of this segment was designated in 2010.
Route 23 is known as the Military Intelligence Service Memorial Highway. It runs from US 101 in Thousand Oaks to California Route 118 in Moorpark. It is in honor of the U.S. 100th Infantry Battalion and 442nd Regimental Combat Team, composed entirely of Japanese Americans during WWII.
Route 101 in Ventura County as the "Screaming Eagles Highway". This honors the 101st Airborne Division of the United States Army, which formed on July 23, 1918 and has been involved in every major war that the United States has participated in since then.
